

Tips For An Awesome Marriage Proposal

By T.J. Tutten,

So you are in need of marriage proposal ideas? There are so many to choose from!

The simple down on one knee, the hiding the ring in the cake or wine glass, then there is the writing it in sky. First you need to think of what suits the two of you. Do you want to do it publicly or would it be better in private?

Here are some great marriage proposal ideas:

The all day:

Send flowers to her the day of the proposal. Then send her to a day of pampering. Finally pick up her for dinner, have dinner at a local restaurant and then after dinner take her outside and propose.

The very romantic:

Sprinkle roses (or her favorite flower) petals all over the room, light candles, and play her or the most romantic song and then propose.

The very public:

If you are sporting fans, go to a local sporting event and have the booth place an ad on the big screen and then get down on your knee!

Take her to a local fair or amusement park, mall, etc and propose in a crowd of people.

Call into the local radio station that you know she listens to and propose to her on air (have her call the station to say yes).

Print an ad in the classified section of the newspaper (if she reads)!

The "I Can't Wait"

This works great if you are away from each other. Send her a video tape with a small package. Instruct her to open the video first and watch it, propose on camera and then give her instructions to the ring or where to contact you at!

There are nearly tons of marriage proposal ideas. I recommend using what ever works best for the two of you and make it a day that she (or you) won't forget!

About the Author

For even more cool ideas, go to The Good Marriage Guide.

Source: <http://selectengagementring.com>