

Romantic Engagement Proposal Ideas

By John Q. Mayer,

Are you ready to ask her the magic question? Probably you finally fell in love for the very first time to the woman that you would want to spend eternity with. She is already the perfect partner for you. You have bought the engagement ring that would say it all. So what else is missing?

Ah, you are still not decided on how to pop the very question. Falling in love for the right person, proposing marriage and getting married happens most of the time only once in a lifetime. So if you are already on the second stage of asking her for a marriage, better make it memorable. Remember, this is a moment that both of you will remember as long as you both live. Your friends, family and even your soon to be kids will know of this story for sure. You actually do not have to impress anybody but of course, you would not want to disappoint also your loved one if you will not make extra effort in telling her.

Here are some ideas that you can count on to make sure that this romantic proposal will really win the heart of your loved one.

1. Many couples ended up in a marriage after a scavenger hunt. Yes, you can put clues in different spots where you had all your firsts with her or a place that is memorable for the both of you. For the last clue, make sure that you have in that spot a treasure chest that would contain the engagement ring. Then blurt out the very question of how about treasuring her for the rest of your lives?

2. It is common that a marriage proposal is being done in a formal restaurant. Why not try that but make sure to put a little twist unto it. The moment your girlfriend woke up, surprise her with breakfast in bed. Do not let anyone cook that, do it yourself. Then have flowers delivered to her before lunch. And then let a restaurant nearby deliver her food for lunch. In the afternoon, inform her that she has an appointment with the spa, which you already booked. And while she is on the spa, leave a dress in her room with an invitation to come to a dinner in this certain restaurant. Your girl will be dying with the surprise that is waiting for her. And once she is settled in the restaurant, come to her and the "yes" that you have been waiting for will come in an instant.

3. You can actually be bold and ask her a proposal and marriage all at the same time. If you think that you your girl has really been waiting for long for you to ask her, then this is the perfect setting. Make sure to arrange weddings where fewer requirements are needed like Hawaii. Invite your friends and relatives to be there. You can actually tell her first that you will be going to a vacation and once you are already on this fantasy world of Hawaii (or any beach at that), ask her while all your friends are relatives are hiding somewhere. Once she said YES, the marriage proceeds. You can even save her the headache of planning for a wedding.

These are only few of the ways you can actually propose to your girl. All you need is to be creative and let the love you have fill you in. Anyway, a peaceful marriage should kickoff with a romantic and memorable start - your engagement proposal.
